The following action priorities were discussed:

- Renewing the call to the UN Security Council for referral of the situation in the DPRK to the International Criminal Court;
- Securing the DPRK's compliance with its international obligations, including the Responsibility to Protect accepted by all UN Member States in 2005 and the provision of access to UN special mandate holders and other UN personnel;
- Supporting the field-based structure of the UN Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights in fulfilling its mandate;
- Raising awareness of the issue of human rights in the DPRK among international and regional organizations, and encouraging them, as well as national governments, to adopt and promote the recommendations of the COI as their own positions;
- Disseminating the COI report globally by expanding access in various languages, new formats and media, including reader-friendly translations;
- Increasing outreach and education about the DPRK's human rights situation, especially among the younger generation, including in the Republic of Korea (South Korea);
- Increasing dissemination of information within the DPRK, including by accessible radio broadcasts;
- Mobilizing civil society, notably in the global South, to engage on human rights in the DPRK as an issue of common global concern;
- Facilitating international transit of North Koreans seeking to leave the DPRK and avoiding their repatriation to the DPRK;
- Building the capacity of North Korean refugees and empowering their voices, including for raising public awareness around the world of the human rights situation in the DPRK;
- Addressing the issue of missing and abducted persons and separated families on a humanitarian and non-political basis, consistent with universal human rights;
- Exploring the availability and use of court systems in various jurisdictions around the world, including those affording universal jurisdiction, with a view to securing the accountability of any persons or institutions in the DPRK found liable under international law;
- Undertaking further research on the DPRK, including governance structures and individuals in positions of authority, and the treatment of vulnerable groups;
- Promoting people to people exchanges, and identifying a high profile UN goodwill ambassador; and
- Increasing attention to the treatment of overseas laborers from the DPRK, including by encouraging adherence by recipient states to international labor and anti-slavery standards.
