Snapshots from the frontline: interventions, practices and rapid responses

Land Acknowledgement

I would like to acknowledge the enduring presence of Indigenous peoples on the lands on which I work today. I acknowledge that North York is the traditional land of the Huron-Wendat, the Seneca, Haudenosaunee and most recently, the Mississaugas of the Credit River. I also acknowledge that Toronto is covered by treaty 13. I thank the past, present and future caretakers of this land where age old ceremonies of celebration, initiation and renewal took place. I am grateful to have the opportunity to work and learn on these lands in a community of sharing.

Reactions from the field

“It was great to hear all the key messages and I especially appreciated the 'Emergency remote teaching' message. I think we can forget that we were not ready or planned for this time and everyone (teachers included) want to keep our students engaged and learning, but there are many other factors that are affecting our students, their families and ourselves.”

More feedback

This was awesome - incredible - need to watch this again and then feel upon reflection would be able to provide more feedback here...this was concrete and gave some awesome ways to support this in our schools! Thank you!

Really enjoyed the group discussion – It helped my well being to connect with colleagues outside of my Board. Recommend these sessions continue!

I think all info (when I was able to be present) was relevant to our roles as leaders and how we respond during a pandemic that is affecting our staff, students and families. Thank you.
